Dear Gerry,

First an apology for my hasty deduction of years ago when I first saw Virginia Cha's mother: they are Koreans, not Vietnamese. The mother closed her ice cream and sandwich shop in the mall up for the contest and until yesterday. Or at least I first saw it open then. I'm sure the family enjoyed it all, as they indeed should have!

I've not read Macial Matters but Jerry McKnight says it is a fine book

I'm inclined to t ink that it includes materials other than those I obtained but I don't know. I'll give this to Jerry, who may respond if I'm wrong.

I'm not familiar with Hood's problems, costs or changes on xeroxing, if it can do relatively large quantities like those two files, but there is a place in Frederick that xeroxes for 5¢ a sheet. I don't know if they have quantity prices or can handle large jobs. I also don't know what it charges, but University Publications of America borrowed and copies those files, microfilm or microfiche. I think the xeroxes are much easier for students to handle and more likely to excite and stimulate them.

I think Jerry had reasons for not making his conclusions stronger.

If your students speak to you before Neil Shehan gets there, remember it is to him that Elsberg first leaked The Pentagon Papers.

Let us hope that your kids can do as well as the Hmone youngsters in music and in their school work!

I hope Hurricane Hugo and its tropical-storm successor did you no harm. What is left of it is centered to the west of us. From the beginning it reminded me of Hurricane Hazel, of about 25 years ago. That was a bad and very powerful one that did much damage. Although it passed right over us, damage was negligible. But around us it was terrible.

Haynes Johnson's column in today's Washington Post, enclosed, may interest you. First decent thing like that I've seen in the Post for some time.

Best to you all,

Harry
